NOTABLE NEW OXFORD BOOKS

A DICTIONARY OF MODERN ENGLISH USAGE

By H. W. FOWLER, Joint Author of The King's English, The Concise Oxford Dictionary and The Pocket Oxford Dictionary. Price, $3.00

This is a Dictionary of an entirely new type, for it deals with every problem of speech and writing. Nothing like it exists and something like it has always been needed. It is the easiest, cleverest and safest manual of correctness in speech and writing.

Back of it lies the labor of scholars and scientists who, over a period of 67 years, have worked upon the great Oxford English Dictionary—the final and only authority upon our language. This little handbook is a child of that monumental work.

It is invaluable for:

Every man and woman who wants to speak or write forcefully and clearly;

Every professional person who dictates correspondence or has public contacts;

Short story and special article writers, ministers, journalists, editors, advertisers;

All teachers, students, and all those who read books and love them.

Excerpts from the first reviews:

"One of the finest and most provocative desk books ever encountered." (New York Sun).

"So good a dictionary of modern American usage would be worth more to the United States than an intelligent President." (Century Magazine).

"It will provide me for years with material for browsing." (Bookman).

"It is a veritable encyclopædia . . . the author is unfailingly plausible and never dull. It would be difficult, indeed, to imagine a more readable dictionary." (Mercury).

"The most excellent book of the sort we've ever browsed in." (Saturday Review).

"A book which may well become a classic of the reference shelves." (The Independent).

Keats.
By H. W. Garrod.
The same amusing and penetrating gift for criticism found in his earlier book on Wordsworth, is used to even greater advantage in this small volume. Thorpe's The Mind of John Keats, and Murry's Keats and Shakespeare were recently published. $2.00

The Prelude, or Growth of a Poet's Mind.
By William Wordsworth. Edited from the Manuscripts, with Introduction, Textual and Critical Notes by Ernest De Selincourt.
The Prelude, an autobiographical poem, is the essential living document for the interpretation of Wordsworth's life and poetry. The original version of 1805, compared here for the first time with the edition published in 1850, reveals what is most significant in the poet's development. $8.50

New Verse.
By Robert Bridges.
A collection of verse written in 1921 by Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, with the other poems of that year and a new group of poems. $2.00

Human Nature and Education.
By W. B. Woodbourne.
No science is of greater importance to the teacher than that of psychology, and the present volume is offered as one in which old problems are re-examined in the light shed by the latest psychological knowledge. $4.25.

Everybody's Guide to Radio Music.
By Percy A. Scholes.
A book for the increasingly large new musical public, giving a brief but complete and simple explanation of the forms which music takes, the instruments of the orchestra, and the history of the art of music. $2.00.

A Nation Plan.
By Cyrus Kehr.
A basis for co-ordinated physical development of the United States of America, with a suggestion for a World Plan.
The aim of this book is to point the way to the carrying on of public or civic work, starting with the larger area and planning progressively downward to smaller and smaller features or factors. $5.00.

The United States and France.
Some Opinions on International Gratitude, selected with a Foreword by James Brown Scott.
In the light of recent interesting developments in the relations of America and France, the appearance of Dr. Scott's book is particularly timely. $2.75.

New Chapters in Greek Art.
By Percy Gardner.
In these studies on Greek sculpture, Mr. Gardner has not limited himself to a merely technical discussion but has considered the artistic and historical bearing of the works. The book is fully illustrated with figures in the text, and with several well-known plates. $7.00.

The Modern State.
By R. M. MacIver.
A study on the modern state as a product of social evolution giving a history of past thought on the theory of citizenship, and a valuable contribution to the solution of age old problems in their present dress. $7.00.

IMPORTANT NEW VOLUMES ON THE ANCIENT WORLD

THE SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC HISTORY OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE
By M. Rostovtzeff
M. Rostovtzeff is a brilliant scholar, who combines daring with erudition. In this first serious attempt to connect the social and economic evolution of the Roman Empire with its constitutional and administrative development, the author makes successful use of this combination of talents. $15.00

A HISTORY OF THE ANCIENT WORLD
By M. Rostovtzeff
Translated by J. D. Duff
Volume I. The Orient and Greece.
An Ancient History for the general reader which traces the political, social, economic, and artistic development rather than the details of military campaigns. Volume II (in the press) will deal with the Roman Empire.

THE MIND OF ROME
Contributions by Cyril Bailey, J. Bell, I. G. Barrington-Ward, T. R. Glover, A. M. Woodward, H. E. Butler, Maurice Platnauer, Charles Singer. Edited by Cyril Bailey
This book aims at presenting a picture of the Roman outlook on life by means of specimens of Roman literature in translations. The literature is dealt with in its various departments—Elegiac, Satire, History, and so on. The selected passages are mostly from standard versions already published, and are accompanied by a short historical account of each department of Roman literature. There are numerous illustrations, archæological and topographical. The Mind of Rome is one of a group of books on Greece and Rome, which have recently been published. Previous volumes are The Legacy of Greece, The Legacy of Rome, and The Pageant of Greece. $3.50.

The American Civil War.
By David Knowles.
A short account of the causes, characteristics, personalities and consequences of the war between the Northern and Southern States of America in the years 1861-65. $3.00.

English Men and Manners of the Eighteenth Century.
By A. S. Turberville.
In this delightful book, the Eighteenth Century is treated from a biographical point of view. The author has taken several outstanding figures of the period, together with their complementary backgrounds in the conspicuous features of that time, and has produced a vivid picture for his followers. $4.00

English Women in Life and Letters.
By M. Phillips and W. S. Tomkinson.
The book, which is very fully illustrated, tells of the everyday affairs of women's life, from the Middle Ages up to the Nineteenth Century. The plan is mainly but not rigidly biographical. Various aspects of domestic life are dealt with, and there are chapters on education, on women in the professions, and the woman criminal. (Ready shortly).

English Life in the Middle Ages.
By L. F. Salzman.
This well-known scholar has produced a book that makes the Middle Ages seem but yesterday. Under the illumination of his skill, mediæval figures, often cold and lifeless, become suddenly warm and human. Edward I bought toys for his children; the Norman conquerers were peevish before breakfast! Admirable illustrations help to make the Middle Ages live again. (Ready shortly).

Preaching in Theory and Practice.
By the Rev. Samuel McComb, D.D. With an Introduction by the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, D.D.
Stimulating lectures which encourage preaching as a fine art, an indispensable social function and a sacred entrustment of influence. A book of popular demand to answer the needs of the modern world. $2.00.

An Outline Introduction to the History of Religions.
By T. H. Robinson.
Impartial, plain, complete in its survey, this "Outline Introduction" will assume its merited niche as the primer par excellence in the layman's History of Religions. $2.00.

The Psalter in Life, Worship and History.
By Adam C. Welch.
A popular book, giving in non-technical language a detailed study of the psalms and their relation to certain aspects of thought and life. $1.75.

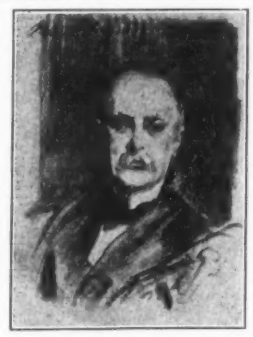
Israel. Its Life and Culture, I-II.
By J. Pedersen.
A comprehensive survey of the social history and philosophy of Israel. $6.00.

The Apocrypha.
The version of the Apocrypha which is here presented to the reader forms the last portion of the revision of the Authorized Version in 1611. (World's Classics) 80 cents.

The Ethics of Buddhism.
By S. Tachibana.
An attempt to explain the practical morality of Buddhism. $5.00.

The Beginnings of English Literary Periodicals.
A Study of Periodical Literature, 1665-1715. By Walter Graham.
An account of the development of the English literary periodical in the period least known to modern readers. $2.50.

The Life of Sir William Osler.
By Harvey Cushing, Winner of the 1925 Pulitzer Award for the best biography.



"Are you looking for a splendid investment? . . . If you are, I can tell you . . . the best, the most satisfying, the highest dividend-paying possible way. That is to buy the Life of Sir William Osler by Dr. Harvey Cushing. . . . It is far beyond the average biography . . . it has impressed and thrilled me beyond anything I have read in a long time."—Sermon delivered by the Rev. John Howard Lever, at the Church of the Advocate, Philadelphia, Pa. 2 vols. $12.50.
